What colour is the sky?

Is it really just one shade of blue?

Is it even blue?

Have a look right now?

Strange isn't it?!

Take the colour test

Can you say the colour of the ink and not the word?

Say them quickly and see how well you do!

Hi

I'm Jeanni, an energetic, enthusiastic, innovative freelance artist and graduate teacher of many years' standing.

I have a passion for art and would love to help you to open your eyes to see the beauty that is all around us every day.

To look
To see
To smile

To enjoy the world in which we live.

My art courses are designed to allow you to experience the wave of confidence that comes from being able to look, see and then paint what you have truly seen. I love to work with students of all abilities. I was recently privileged to be invited to teach the Olympic coaches. Above is an example of a painting completed during a 3 hour course by a complete beginner. Below are images of students discovering the joy of losing themselves in art. The courses are held outside whenever the weather allows and everybody takes home a completed work of art. We normally use acrylic paints and old clothes are preferable, just in case!

Really fantastic to discover The Nare had a resident artist. Three wonderful lessons- Many many thanks for all the great tips- I learnt loads.

I also undertake commissions in a wide range of subjects. A few of my favourites are included here.

Jeanni's painting of our 5 year old son captures everything we could possibly have dreamt of, we shall be forever grateful for this exquisite work.
